.DISCUSSION...

Rain showers will continue Thursday morning with showers tapering off by 10 am. Conditions will begin to dry out Thursday afternoon as cloud cover begins to diminish. Friday begins the warming trend with temperatures in the low to mid 70s. Saturday and Sunday the daytime high could reach 80 degrees. Winds will generally be out of the north and be light. Friday will be the driest day as clear skies will help to push the minimum RH to around 30%. Cloud cover will return Saturday to help moderate the RH values. No precipitation is expected after Thursday morning until Monday.
