Fire Behavior	Forecast # 02
Name of Incident:	Administrative Unit:
Bolt Creek	WA-NWS
Date & Time Issued: October 10, 2022 @ 1900	Operational Period: DAY/NIGHT 10/11-12/2022 (0700-0700)
FBAN: Steve Ziel	Signed: /z/ Sussill

Assumptions: ... Continued mild weather with clearing sky by afternoon will maintain moderated fire behavior potential across the fire area. We have all the ingredients for areas of moderate-to-active fire behavior due to dry fuels, heavy fuel loading, and late season conditions. Expect the most favorable burning conditions between 1400-1800. Persistent burning conditions may be expected in heavy fuels, deep duff, and concentrations. Lower slopes/river areas remain smoke sheltered through the period, with good night time humidity recovery. Monitor channeled river wind for increase in fire behavior and wind/slope alignment on ridges.

Weather Summary *See attached Fire Weather Forecast Fire Behavior Summary

Fuels in the fire area are primarily composed of Timber Litter, and Timber with Understory. Primary tree species include mixed sizes of Douglas Fir, Western Hemlock, with scattered True Fir and cedar. Local timber litter is compact to fluffy. Shrub and understory species include mixed hardwoods, and dog-hair conifer thickets. Large snags and heavy fuel loadings are common throughout all areas. Live woody fuels are marginally contributing to and rates of spread and fire intensity. Fuel conditions change by elevation, and aspect. Low crown base height (ladder fuels) and lichen/moss are present in most of the timbered areas. Lots of maple leaf litter.

Today's potential fire behavior will generally consist of "smoldering and creeping" – but may include pockets of low-to-moderate upslope surface fire spread with isolated flare ups and torching. Primary spread mechanism is backing on steep slopes, accelerated by rollout. Wind/slope alignment on upper slopes and along drainages may contribute to surface fire spread. Areas of backing, and flanking (lateral) spread may increase in the afternoon with forecast winds, and a little sunshine. Fire activity into the evening will likely diminish with increased humidity and less winds.

* Fine fuel moisture= 8%-11%, 1000hr. moisture=12%, Woody fuels 190%, Probability of Ignition-20-40%

Fuel Type	Rate of Spread	Flame Length	Spotting Distance	20 MPH Gusts FPM
If your work area includes -	(CH/HR = FPM)	Feet
Timber Litter (TL5) Heavy	2-3	1-2		2-4
Timber w/ Understory (TU5) Heavy	3-4	4-5		5-6
Timber w/ Understory (TU2) Moderate	4-5	2-3		5-7

Specific Assignments:

Div. A — Monitor fire activity on slopes for flare-ups, rollout and backing rate on lower slopes. Expect continued activity in private parcel (Sec. 26) north of Skykomish with river influence winds. Potential slope reversal near the section 1 and 6 line crossed 6510 Rd. Div. S — Expect some drainage/wind alignment with increased afternoon winds. Expect smoldering to kindle to flames with wind. Monitor flanking/backing on Heybrook Ridge and 6022 Rd. (Sec. 26), as well as increased activity in lower Barclay Creek (Sec. 35).

Air Operations: Visibility will be impacted by smoke under a cloudy afternoon sky. River valley may be somewhat very smokey.

Safety

At all times.....Keep informed on fire weather conditions and forecasts (read the Fire and Weather forecasts, observe weather changes throughout the day, listen to radio). Know what your fire is doing at all times (observe smoke, flames, direction, note changing conditions). Base all actions on current and expected behavior of the fire (evaluate your situation and the fire activity – anticipate rate of change, consider "what-if's", establish trigger points).

Be alert to changing conditions – don't be lulled into the "same old/same old"......fire behavior and weather processes are dynamic and ever changing throughout the day, week, season...
